Norris Asserts One Justice Should Not Have Authority To Nullify Work of 500 Lawmakers

WASHINGTON, March 12 .-(AP)-Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, dramatically confronted the supporters of the Roosevelt court bill today with a quotation from the President opposing a general increase in the number of federal judges as likely to "contribute to the confusion."

Adroitly staging his presentation, the Montanan, a foe of the President's measure, read to the senate a lengthy excerpt from the chief executive's book, "Looking Forward" ty of the author.

First smiling, and then with a grim expression, he announced only that he would quote "a great auate which has just listened to an analysis of the problem of the judiciary from APPLING ADOPTS thority" on the subject. The sendictary from Senator Norris, Independent, Nebraska, responded with alert attention, eager for more on the great dispute.

With emphasis, Wheeler read: Judicial Efficiency.

"The only way to attack the problem is by rigorous application of judicial efficiency. In the face of this congestion, the remedy commonly proposed is to add new judges or new courts, but it will readily be seen that if the problem is what I have stated it to be, such a so-called remedy would merely aggravate the

"There are, of course, legitimate demands for additional judicial manpower in sections where the population has grown rapidly. Wheeler alammed the volume down upon his desk and faced the senate.

In Loew's Grand Film Hit
An engaging and homely little story of a typical American family, "A Family Affair," began a week's engagement yesterday at Loew's Grand theater, bringing to the screen one of the most satisfying films seen in a long time.

But small wonder, for the cast is headed by Lionel Barrymore, with Eric Linden and Cecilia Parker adding the love interest, and such supporting players as Mickey Rooney, Spring Byington, Julie Hayden, Sara Haden, Allen Vincent, Margaret Marquis to give sest to minor roles.

Barrymore is at his best as the small-town judge, who legally halts the building of a great aqueduct that would link his smaller community with a big city. His action is based on the fact the move is not strictly on the up and up.

This, however, brings the town and his own family about his ears. Enemies try to discredit him by making him the object of a scandal, but he triumphs in the end and love conquers

NEW YORK, March 12.—(UP) The nation's youngest sit-down striker—seven-month-old Gerard McMahon—won a temporary victory to-day. His parents, who refused to move him out of a house condemned by the tenement commission, received "a few days of grace to find other quarters."

Lloyd George, Great Britain's World War prime minister, angrily attacked the government today for neglecting the "weakest link" in its war defenses, its "food front."

The 74-year-old statesman also assailed the "grotesque" inadequacy of the special areas bill which would allocate only $1.500,000 to depressed sections out of the $7,500,000,000 Great Britain proposes to spend on rearmament during the next five years.

"Three hundred thousand pounds for a front which nearly broke us we all had from that war-a food shortage?"

He appealed to the government to put men back on the land "before it is too late," reminding commons that Great Britain had allowed soil to go out of cultivation while Germany was reclaiming 4,000,000 acres of farm land. "Three hundred thousand pounds for a front which nearly broke us down in the great war!" he exclaimed.
"Is the government going to do anything to meet the solemnest warning land.

"The argument advanced by Mr. Jackson before the committee," Representative Cox, a majority member of the house rules committee and himself a lawyer, said "that the federal judicial power is impairing state rights is a palpable attempt to conceal the intent and purpose of the demand to enlarge the membership of the supreme court, for it is now admitted by proponents of the bill that it will mean the swallowing up of all state sovereignty by federal power."

Cites Florida Case.

During an hour's presentation of the President's cause before the committee, Assistant Attorney General mittee, Assistant Attorney General Jackson made the open charge that "few decisions of the supreme court can be cited in which any state of the Union has been able to obtain any protection of its own constitutional rights, upon its own demand from that court."

He cited a Florida and a Massa

He cited a Florida and a Massachusetts case to show that a state could not sue in the highest judicial tribunal to prevent injury to it through its own citizens. "It was not congress," the youthful assistant attorney general declared, "nor the executive, but it was the supreme court which denied the rights of any states of the Union to make any law whatever dealing with minimum wages, and it was in Morehead vs. Tipaldo, 298 U. S. 587, that the chief justice said:

the chief justice said:

No Protection Offered.

"And I can find nothing in the federal constitution which denies to the state the power to protect women from being exploited by overreaching employers through the refusal of a fair wage as defined in the New York statute and ascertained in a reason-able manner by competent authority." Mr. Jackson further charged that state legislation, insurgurating Art. Jackson further charged that state legislation inaugurating con-servative reforms had with increasing frequency been set aside by a majority of the supreme court ever since 1929, even though these state reforms did not encroach upon the powers of the federal government.

"Advocates of court change," Judge Cox continued, "confess that a new court is wanted, which will say that the general welfare clause carries a grant of legislative power. Upon this subject Thomas Jefferson said that this would be equivalent to reducing the constitution to a single phrase, and that all preceding as well as all following might be marked out.

"Personal Control."

"Of course, everyone familiar with the proposition knows that the adop-tion of the President's bill means the extension of federal control into the extension of federal control into the most intimate and personal relations of the people. There will be no rights reserved to the people that will be sacred against federal encroachment. The whole intent of this bill, as everybody concedes, is to federalize every activity of life."

Shortly after Mr. Roosevelt sent his court message and bill to congress early in February, Representative Cox took the floor of the house to warn his colleagues that the chief executive's recommendation "constitutes the most terrible threat to constitutional government that has arisen in the entire history of the country."

"There is a general feeling that when justices arrive at the age of 70 they are living in the past, not the present, and their places should be taken by a younger class of men with a vision for humanity."

Relief Need Urgent.

Constitutional amendments proposed in the city program to enable the city to borrow money from the banks at a lower interest rate and to refund its deficit and certain bonds for emergency use are now in the process of going through the general assembly and, if passed, will be voted on by the people of the state in the general election set for June 8.

Thus, if no hitch develops, the city's program, designed to pay off indebtedness and place and keep the city on a cash basis, will be in full effect within two months.

RELIEF PROBE BODY EXPECTED TO URGE CITY FUND RELEASE

Recommendation Expected at Monday Council Meeting Following Quiz End.

Recommendation that Atlanta release its emergency relief money to the Fulton Department of Public Welfare for distribution among the 10,320 unemployables on its relief rolls will be made in council Monday by the special relief investigation committee, it was forecast yesterday.
Committeement yesterday questioned Frank Miller, executive director of the welfare department, and studied the department's records and reports.
Charges made in public hearings against administration of relief by the department were not substantiated.

Another session of the committee is to be held at 11 o'clock Sunday morn-

Another session of the committee is to be held at 11 o'clock Sunday morning at the welfare department to receive a check on certain individual cases now under investigation, and the committee's report to council will be drafted at that time.

It was predicted that the committee will suggest a number of changes of minor nature and probably will seek to set up some form of additional relief agency to supply quick relief to unemployed persons who face starvation while seeking work.

Under rules of the Fulton Welfare Department, it can issue relief money to persons who are classed as unemployables, or those who cannot work even if jobs were available, but it cannot give relief to employable persons for WPA projects, for which service the WPA donates about $500 monthly as pay on the salaries of workers in the Department of Public Welfare, Miller said.

Of the numerous charges of improper distribution of relief heard by the committemen at the public hear-individual and provided the salaries of workers in the Department of Public Welfare, Miller said.

lic Welfare, Miller said.

Of the numerous charges of improper distribution of relief heard by the committemen at the public hearings conducted for two weeks at the city hall, not one had been found to be authentic yesterday. However, the Welfare Department case workers yesterday afternoon began the task of double-checking the case of every name mentioned by those complaining at the public hearings, and of those named in letters sent the committee.

This report wil be received by the committee at its meeting tomorrow morning.

Director Miller urged that the WPA Director Miller urged that the WPA certification service not be interrupted. He said there are between 7,000 and 8,000 employable persons residing in Fulton county and in need of assistance. Because the WPA cannot certify workers to its own projects, it is necessary for another agency to do so, for which service Miss Gay B. Shepperson, state WPA administrator, contributes a certain sum. Miller er said that this money used to pay day after three days of testimony in tor, contributes a certain sum. Allier er said that this money used to pay day after three days of testimony in salaries of welfare department workers enabled the department to distribute just that much more in emeritables. He outlined the various services of the welfare department and explained to the committee that the department does not administer the surplus food warehouse stores here. Case workers give requisitions to those on relief rolls for supplies at the surplus food warehouse but the federal government buys and distributes the food.

Decrease in the amount of relief money allocated to the department this month has reduced the average relief.

Missurion of the project would be unconstitutional.

The case, in which three privately owned utility companies seek to restrain permanently the Public Works Administration from financing construction of the project, began Wednesday.

Power company attorneys sought to show their equipment and lines through the territory to be served by the proposed plant were adequate to supply the needs of the area, and that the project would render irreparable damage to the utilities.

check from about $5 per person per month to a little more than $3 a person. he said.

The director said he knew that "many persons are not receiving enough relief" but that nothing can be done for them without more money.

He told the committee that the auditor's figures show the overhead cost of the welfare department to be 9 percent of the total revenue.

Alderman Ed A. Gilliam. chairman, exhibited letters from Dallas. Texas, and New Orleans, showing their administration costs much higher than Atlanta's.

Dallas reported that the project would render irreparable damage to the utilities.

Dallas reported that the city contributes $3,000 a month to relief, and the county gives $16,000. The total money handled by the Dallas relief agency over a period of five years was only $249.778, however.

New Orleans spends $151,269 each month, its relief bill having increased from $55,000 in 1936. The state, the county and the federal government share in the New Orleans relief cost, and the city itself imposes a 2 per cent gasoline and amusement tax for the support of relief.

Miller told the committee that negro relief cases have proved highly successful in Atlanta. He said there are 71 employes in the department, 10 of whom are negro case workers under the supervision of a white supervisor. Committee members said salaries paid the general workers in the department were not too high.

Present at the session yesterday, in addition to Gilliam, were Stephens Mitchell. J. A. Harper, Councilman E. A. Minor and Will L. Hancock.

An authoritative source, who declined to be quoted by name, said the policy of the board will be to contract with the counties for the work now being carried on by the prisoners directly under highway board supervision.

For many years the Highway Department maintained a number of camps with 400 to 500 prisoners in them, to help relieve the convict situation. A camp in Walker county was abandoned last week and the prisoners taken over by the county. Another, at Alamo in Wheeler county, is to be abandoned within the coming week.

Hull Writes Fish That Only Prosperity Can Brake Race Toward War.

BEHIND THE NEWS FAIR ENOUGH By PAUL MALLON.

By PAUL MALLON.

LETTING IT SIMMER WASHINGTON, March 12.—Behind all the hubbub of confidence reflected in current speech-making and propaganda, many a level-headed associate of President Roosevelt in this supreme court packing fight is getting around to the private opinion that the President will eventually find some other, means of attaining his objectives.

The way the most reasonable authorities size up the situation now is this:

The way the most reasonable authorities size up the situation now is the most reasonable authorities size up the situation now is the most of them of the love-bower type, built by the army cores of engineers to accommodate the

It is, therefore, still quite possible that the President will attain his objectives in the end by some means now unpredictable, but short of either packing the court or a constitutional amendment. At least it now seems to be more likely than any of the other existing possibilities.

LIMITATIONS Naturally it will be insisted officially for a while yet that nothing short of the President's plan will do.

This front is essential to carrying on the fight.

At the same time, those White House friends who are looking the situation in the eye appreciate that such a sweeping short-cut as court packing cannot be undertaken in the face of heavy outbursts of opposition. A certain amount of popular approval is necessary for the success of any such venture.

In that connection, the President already has lost much ground since his proposal first was made. He could not, for instance, appoint today the same men to the court whom he could have named the day before his proposal was made.

Furthermore, the solution he offered is not one to which he is irretrievably wedded. He arrived at it only by the process of elimination, and in frank moments is said to have confessed to callers that it has one big defect. It may not do the job he has set out to do. Therefore some who know him best are saying:
"Unless this fight becomes so bitterly personal against him that he gets his Dutch up, he may permit a more reasonable solution to develop. ORGANIZER New Maritime Commission Chairman Joseph Kennedy came out of a conference at the White House the day after his appointment and said substantially:

"Gosh, I did not read this new law I am to work under until after I was appointed. I hope I am not confirmed."

Nevertheless, he will be. Kennedy is one of the few New Dealers who has gone out of government service with such an improved reputation that the President wanted him back. The new maritime commission law is generally recognized as embodying a tougher job than the securi-ties and exchange commission, which Kennedy established two years ago. Kennedy took the short two-year term because he has a private under-standing with the President that he is merely to organize the commission and then retire. He does not expect to stay the whole two years.

NOTES The President has been giving a lot of senators and congressmen private lectures about the budget. These are about the same sort of talks he held with them about this time last year. They listened well as usual, but will heed not,

Circuit Judge Denman, of San Francisco, witness in the court hearings before the judiciary committee, is supposed to have had much to do with the preparation of the supreme court plan. He is an F. D. R.

The house agriculture committee has postponed the state AAA tem to 1942 again. You may recall the assembled farm leaders here wanted 1940, but Agriculture Secretary Wallace is insisting on 1942. It will give him a chance to handle the issue after he is elected president in 1940, if he is, instead of just before the campaign starts.

to bring offense?

I know people who go through life spotting their happiness and the happiness of those around them by a habit of becoming highly incensed at some chance remark which the speaker never intended to be unkind at all. It is just that the poor, sensitive souls place the wrong interpretation upon words spoken, perhaps carelessly, and then cling to that erroneous impression they have received because they feel they must have a basis for their reactions.

Surely, when you know that some person who speaks words you resent, at first hearing, has nothing but the kindest of feelings toward yourself, in many cases is someone who loves you, there ought to be, on your part, sufficient confidence in that affection to convince you, at all times, that the thing which affronts you is not intended to wound and that the wound you feel comes from your own misinterpretation of language or intent, rather than from any deliberate cruelty.

All the Printing?

Did you ever stop to think about the innumerable publications, magazines, books, pamphlets, etc., which come from the presses of America every day. The awful stream of printed words that is never ending, never pausing, never slackening.

Some, of course, are worthy of the ink impressed upon the paper. Some, mayhap, are classic arrangements of the language, that will live for ages.

But think of some of the other stuff. These thoughts aroused by glances at the reading matter of near-by fellow passengers on that street car, coming to town, this morning. One woman was studiously reading a pamphlet on "Practical Psychology" that seemed to me, what I saw of it, to be so rudimentary it was childish. Such in-All the Printing?

I have been skeptical of the news coverage out of Eastport ever since last summer when the Republicans went rooting around in the garbage dump of Quoddy village for the scory about the pies for Farmer Ed Pottle's pigs, which was a good story except that it lacked the essential ingredient of truth. However, it is not hard to believe that the love bowers are showing wear and tear, because the American workmen don't build very good houses these days, whether for the army corps of engineers, high-pressure promoters of subdivisions or individual victims who get whether for the army corps of engineers, high-pressure promoters of sub-divisions or individual victims who get one whiff of cedar shingle and saw-dust in the spring and come down with the lumber-lust.

I don't know whether the trouble is that they are shiftless or ornery or what, but my guess is that most of the so-called carpenters, electricians, masons, and all such who work on the building of a house just don't know their stuff. And whatever the explanation may be, the fact of the matter is, that they build some terrible houses which spring leaks and warp and come open at the joints long before the second mortgage is paid off. Undoubtedly the building contractors should be coupled in the betting with the workmen, and anyone who

And that is the last you will see of your building contractor. You just ask anyone who has suffered, and then open your heart to absorb the most agonizing woes that ever cracked the soul of man.

You will hear about roofs stuck on with glue and plumbing that wouldn't drain, paint that peeled off like sunburned skin or blew away like powder, turtle-back floors and come-apart cabinet work, sagging foundations, non-draft chimneys and cellars which in rainy weather are good regatta

And always there is the story about the expert called in a few months after completion of the house who went around poking in corners and clucking to himself and finally said, "I don't see how any man could have been so dishonest as to take your money for this kind of work and material."

And his answer to that always is "Well, now, if you want the job done right."

FINGERS AND TOES.

FINGERS AND TOES.

Dr. Olin Cofer loaned me his mule and Dr. Thomas Conner loaned me his plow and harrow last Saturday, and I had one grand day in my patch. I was trying to rip up a stretch of honeysuckle roots in a fence hedge that I had just cleared up in connection with a new line fence, and the mule was of the opinion that she ought to gee and I was insisting fhat she haw, and in my insistence I gave her a lively jerk with my left hand and struck the near-by wire fence, peeling the epidermis and the dermis on all three knuckles of my index finger and upsetting the nail, etc. Although I resorted to the old-time remedy of turpentine, that finger got terribly conspicuous for several days in the fact that I was thinking of it instead of it going on quietly doing what a finger is supposed to do, without notice and without appreciation.

That afternoon that we started to load the things on the wagon, I dropped a rock off the harrow on my toe, and for several days I was equally conscious of the fact that I had a toe as well as a finger. I don't know when I had ever thought of fingers and toes before—just took them for granted. But this experience, like so many in my life, has been a good teacher. I have more respect for fingers and toes this Saturday than I did last Saturday. I am almost ready now to suggest that a monument be erected on Pennsylvania avenue, or somewhere—perhaps in a fence corner would be more appropriate—to fingers and toes.

My Dear Louise: The "swell" lady who captured your heart yesterday is everything

The "swell" lady who captured your heart yesterday is everything that she seems to you and much more.

She is well-educated and well-read. She understands people and politics. She is gentle and kind and generous. She is thoughtful and considerate of those who are less fortunate. She is broadminded and tolerant of everything except snobbery, sham, unfairness and the unclean things that all decent people abominate. She is energetic and efficient, and she knows how to do all of a woman's chores and most of man's. She is witty and quick to laugh. Her manners are faultless, and she has the poise of complete sincerity. She has the wisdom of the serpent, and is nearly always right, but there is no conceit in her. And, finally, she has moral courage and would face a lion in his den to get her rights, yet she will endure anything to avoid a scene. A perfectly grand lady, as you say, with no fault except a temper.

But she hasn't always been as she is, and I think her story would teach you something.

But she hasn't always been as she is, and I think her story would teach you something.

When she was your age, her people were poor. She was making her own clothes by the time she was 14, and she worked after school and on Saturdays to earn spending money. She borrowed the money to pay for her education, and then got a job and repaid every cent with interest.

Fighting her own battles, enduring many discomforts and being often snubbed by more fortunate girls had the usual effect.

When I first met her she was a lone wolf, self-centered and selfish, suspicious, hard and greedy for money. Years of wanting things had given her an almost pathological possessiveness.

When her ship came in, she was gloriously happy for a time. She had everything she desired. And then Fate balanced the scales, and sorrows and troubles blotted out the sun. It was heartache that made her as she is now.

I was in her office the other day when she received a check for $10,200.00. A few years ago such a profit would have made her hilariously happy, but now she merely glanced at it and tossed it on her desk with a high that meant: "That can't buy the things I want now."

I won't attempt to point the moral, but I hope you can learn that ancient lesson without paying the tuition she paid. DAD.

THE THREE—HORSE TEAM

Editor Constitution: President good defense on his supreme court plan.

He likens the three branches of government to a three-horse team with two horses pulling together and the third (the court) kicking over the traces.

Let us take it the other way around, which seems just as logical and more in accordance with the principles of government as established by our forefathers. The one old reliable horse (the supreme court) plowing along in fairly good pace, a bit jerky a times, we will admit, but still held in time by the good old horse that refuses to be frightened; but the third horse (the President), a young, high-spirited horse, that suddenly becomes frightened, and wants to run away with the plow, keeps pulling the middle horse trying to force him also to break and run so that the two can force the third horse in time.

Atlanta's 'Lady for a Day' Peacefully Awaits Death in Hospital Bed.

Another day has been added to the life of Mary Brace. Atlanta's "Apple Mary," who lies at Steiner clinic slowly dying from the ravages of cancer. At the clinic yesterday afternoon the report on the old lady's condition was "very poor—unchanged." Doctors say she cannot live much more than a week now. She has taken no solid food in many weeks and even a liquid diet is beyond her capacity to assimilate except in almost minute portions.

Mary Brace is the old woman who for years peddled newspapers, chewing gum and apples in the entrance of a downtown office building.

Chosen, some four years ago, for a motion picture publicity stunt, she was feted for one day, as a "Lady for a Day." For those all too brief 24 hours she lived at the finest hotel, ate the most expensive meals, wore elaborate costumes and enjoyed all the luxuries of wealth.

The appeal for funds to answer this last request of a dying woman was published here and generous Atlanta responded until the cup was filled, pressed down and running over.

Now, "Apple Mary." awaits in smiling content the inevitable end, satisfied that her prayers have been answered and that she will be a real lady in death.

She cannot recover, the disease has progressed too far. So she waits, in peace, for death, to meet it with all the gracious welcome that a lady extends to release from suffering and the burden of a life that has not been too kind.

mont park, near the Fourteenth street entrance.

Nunamaker will give a demonstration of pitching rings that the novice or even the regular patron of the sport cannot conceive unless he actually sees it.

In addition to a demonstration of ringer throwing in orthodox fashion. Nunamaker will offer a variety of trick throws that will be well worth seeing. Georgia horseshoe pitchers are invited to attend. Dr. W. W. Blackman is sponsoring Nunamaker's appearance here. The slim Clevelander has been world's champion for six of the past eight years.

'Tis a Shame Night Baseball Came Late for Dave Danforth

Often, sitting in the press cage at ball parks while night games were in progress, the old mind took up the subject of Dave Danforth, listed as the greatest "cheater" baseball ever knew, even though they never proved a thing.

He could make a ball club extremely silly on a dark afternoon. And it is a very great pity that night baseball didn't see him at his best.

He once struck out 18 men on a hazy afternoon. And often he fanned as many as 15. He was with the White Sox in 1917 and in 1929 he was with the Peliicans. I recall one afternoon when he held the Crackers to two scratch infield hits. Only one ball was hit to the outfield.

Wilbur Good, then managing the Crackers, thought he had letic director and coach, will be in charge of the Smthie nine, as Gabe been used in the game, had roughened spots on them. They spring football spring football.

Monroe Aggies are reported on the verge of playing an independent baseball schedule, along with Riverside Military Academy, leaving their places on the schedule vacant.

Coach Selby Buck, of Lanier High. Macon, asked members of the Big Eight last week to include the Poets in the baseball schedule, should there be a vacancy. And in case either Monroe or Riverside decide not to enter, the Poets will be included, and should the other also decide not to participate, there will be a bye on each playing date.

Were shipped to Judge John D. Martin, the league president. But there was no proof. And I never thought Danforth did that little bit of work. He may have "cheated." But not in that fashion.

He always maintained he never did anything to the baseball schedule, should there be a vacancy. And in case either Monroe or Riverside decide not to enter, the Poets will be included, and should the other also decide not to participate, there will be a bye on each playing date.

Umpires tried to catch him. Players tried, Managers went sleep-less over the problem. were shipped to Judge John D. Martin, the league president.

At the last baseball meeting in Atlanta, I asked Larry Gilbert about him.

"I never learned what he did—if he did anything," said Gilbert. "I know he wanted the batters to think so. But I never could tell if he did anything."

The general theory was that Davey Danforth had such powerful hands he could loosen the cover and make the ball "sail."

No matter what it was-it is too bad that Davey Danforth didn't last to pitch in some of our night games.

A LETTER FROM DAVEY.

Bruce Dudley, of the Courier-Journal, has come into possession of a letter from the one-time Southern league mystery, which is of interest. Danforth now is practicing dentistry in Baltimore. He writes:

"In reference to my whereabouts, etc. I gave up baseball in 1932 due to the depression. I was with Buffalo that year. I am practicing dentistry now in Baltimore and have been since I quit baseball, but I haven't gotten as fa ahead in it as I did in baseball,

But in the next room the Crackers were glowering and possibly recombe for the floridation of the floridat I recall talking with him the afternoon he made monkeys before the final round.

Remarkable recoveries, particularly from traps, enabled her to score the decisive victory today.

She made the turn two up, carding a one-under par 39. One up through the first six holes, Miss Traung increased the margin on 7th by chipping dead to the pin from a trap and sinking her putt for a par four.

The Californian closed cut the match with consecutive 4's on the 12th, 13th and 14th holes. On the 12th, 13th and 14th holes. On the 13th she put her third shot over the green but chipped into the cup.

Miss Traung's path to the finals was marked by a victory over Kathryn Hemphill, of Columbia, S. C., unofficial Florida winter champion.

To Miss Dettweiler's credit was a decision over Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, six-time national champion.

READY TO SIGN PAPERS TODAY

Two Georgia Boys Come to Terms With A's, White Sox.

NEW YORK, March 12 .- (A)-Joe DiMaggio, holdout New York Yankee outfielder, today agreed o accept a $15,000 contract for the 1937 season. DiMaggio, sensational rookie last year, had been demanding $17,500, but settled for $15,000, which is $6,-500 more than he received last year. These figures were verified by Own-er Jacob Ruppert.

First Baseman Lon Gehrig and Pitcher Charley (Red) Ruffing now are the team's only holdouts. Ruffing is demanding $18,000, which is $3,000 more than the club's offer. Gehrig wants $40,000 and a two-year contract. The Yankees have told him $38,000 for one year is their best and final offer.

Ed Barrow, Yankee business manager, said DiMaggio will leave his home in San Francisco tomorrow by airplane for the Yankee training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Colonel Ruppert also will leave for the camp from New York tomorrow. The Colonel plans to stay in St. Pet-ersburg until the team breaks camp there April 1. He has announced he will not discuss terms with hold-outs down there.

Further negotiations with Gehrig and Ruffing probably will be carried on by Barrow, who is staying in New York to supervise the building of an addition to the right-field grandstand in Yankee Stadium.

Both Barrow and Ruppert have insisted, however, that Ruffing will sign for $15,000 and Gehrig for $36,-000 or they won't play ball for the Yanks.

Moses' Salary Believed $8,500.

MEXICO CITY, March 12.—(AP)—Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, announced today Wally Moses, outfielder who had been holding out for a reported salary of $10,000, had agreed to terms.

"He will be here for Tuesday's workout," Mack said. Mack did not announce the terms, but observers expressed the opinion Moses had agreed to $8,500, or $500 more than Mack had offered at first.

Star Cracker Rookies Face Thorough Trials

With First Nine About Set, Moore Has Time for Recruits; Drills Open Sunday.

By Jack Troy. With the Cracker baseball nine largely set before spring training begins Sunday at Panama City, Fla., Manager Eddie Moore will have more time in which to put a critical eye on the fine squad of hand-picked, highly recommended rookies.

In view of this, prospects of an early cut seem unlikely. The Atlanta club has invested considerable funds in rookies, looking to the fu-And, with one or maybe two exceptions, the rookies have been signed

And, with one or maybe two exceptions, the rookies have been signed only after the highest recommendation of scouts.

President Earl Mann, who left his sick bed for a brief time yesterday, thinks the Atlanta club is extremely well fixed as to rookie talent.

"I feel quite sure," Earl said yesterday, "that we have signed a lot of youngsters who will pay us dividends in the future. A few of them may serve us to good advantage right away."

MANN RECOVERING.

Mann, who has been very sick this week, is recovering rapidly and expects to leave for camp Sunday. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Mann.

Manager Moore has revealed he already has a rather definite line on the squad of 19 that will be carried during the first 30 days of the season.

There are 12 class men on the current roster. The Crackers may carry this number during the opening month of the season.

this number during the opening month of the season.

Hence, it is really no trick to name the class men, who are Bill Beckman, Emil Leonard, Bobby Durham, Jim Lindsey and Lou Garland, pitchers; Johnny Hill, Buster Chatham and Alex Hooks, infielders; Emil Mailho and Joe Hutcheson, outfielders; Paul Richards, catcher, and Manager Moore, utility.

Of the seven rookies who will be a carried for the opening month, Hugh Luby, second baseman; Marshall Mauldin, center fielder; Jim Galvin, rearcher, and Ralph West are certainties.

THREE PLACES OPEN.
There are three places definitely open and rookies also have a fine chance at a couple of positions that are counted filled.

The situation is ideal in respect to the rookies. For Manager Moore has a definite line on his nine and he can spend more time appraising and developing the Crackers of the future.

It's a bit (securaging to young players with (veptional talent to go to camp knowing that the situation is hopeless; that they can't crash the squad no matter what they show in the spring.

They need not feel this way about the Cracker squad. Opportunity is knocking for those who have the sability to do something about it.

Trainer-Coach Dick Nichaus reached Panama City yesterday afternoon and set about getting the training quarters in order.

If Manager Charlie Dressen can just get a little added outfield punch to offset a weak hitting infield, he'll ask no quarter for his hustling young Redlegs in the coming campaign.

"We may not win the pennant," said Dressen, as he watched more than 50 athletes—largest squad in the majors—go through their paces at Plant Field today, "but we'll have plenty to say about who does."

Phil Weintraub, one-time Giant, may be the man with the punch Dressen has been looking for. He is up for his second major league trial after whanging the agate at a .371 clip for the Rochester internationals in 1936.

"I had this fellow at Nashville be-fore he went to the Giants," said Dressen. "He can hit major league pitching, all right, and if his fielding is up to par, he'll be our third out-fielder."

The other two starting patrol posts are sure to go to Ival Goodman and 38-year-old Hazen Cuyler, spark plug of last year's crew.

The Reds are well fixed with garden reserves. If Weintraub's fielding falters, Dressen can summon Joe Dwyer, who brings a batting average of .383 from Nashville and if his age begins to tell on Cuyler, Harvey Walker, a hold-over or the fleet Jack Rothrock from Rochester, can step into the breach.

IN HUTTON SEC HEARING WASHINGTON, March 12.—(P) Elmer David (Del) Baker, coach for the Detroit Tigers, told the securities and exchange commission today that an operative for W. E. Hutton & Company used his brokerage account to buy Atlas Tack Corporation stock in 1935.

the New York firm.

The transaction occurred, Baker said, while he was with the team in training at Lakeland, Fla., in February. He emphasized that he had given Jerry McCarthy, customers' man for Hutton, the "right" to trade in his account, but said he did not know what security he had purchased or what he had paid for it.

The allegation immediately was challenged by David W. Peck, defense counsel, who led Baker to testify he was perfectly satisfied to trust McCarthy's judgment.

There couldn't be anyone but Clark Gable for Rhett Butler and Tallulah Bankhead just must be Scarlett O'Hara, according to Susan Falligant, who commented upon the movie version of "Gone With the Wind" on the eve of her departure last night for New York, where she will be among the trio of southern girls selected for yellow the received in the grant of Margaret Mitchell's best selling novel.

WHAT HOLDS US MEN

By ELY CULBERTSON

But if I believe that a woman should take part in her husband's world, my wife believes that the husband should do his share in the home. He should take an active part in the training and education of the children. Ideal happiness, in other words, is based upon unity, not only physical and spiritual, but in every form of activity, from washing dishes, if necessary, to playing bridge.

It doesn't mean that we are necessaryill Siamese twins. My wife insists, and I agree, that a certain part of my life is mine to do with as I please. I can go off alone and read or engage in any hobby I want.

Lillian Mae Patterns Contract Bridge

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst,

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play." which is being reproduced in this column in daily installments.

WEAK REBIDS IN THE RESPONDER'S SUIT. the following bidding situation:

1 spade Pass 2 diamonds Pass Pass 3 diamonds

North's three diamond rebid is not a "sign-off," but it is a weak bid, for with about two honor tricks North would raise to three no trump. Therefore North must have a hand such as Spades 9 7, hearts 8 6, diamonds A J 7 6 4 2, clubs J 6 4.

This weak rebid also is made when holding a ragged seven-card suit: Spades 9, hearts 8 3, diamonds Q 9 7 6 4 3 2, clubs 10 5 3. In either case, if South bids three no trump, North will pass. North would pass South's two no trump rebid if he held only a weak six-card suit: Spades 6 3, hearts 9, diamonds Q J 10 6 5 4, clubs 9 6 5 2. But if an opponent doubled South's two no trump contract North would make a delayed rescue of three diamonds. This weak rebid also is made when TODAY'S HAND An associate of mine had the un-happy experience in a recent dupli-cate game of being the only declarer in a field of eight who failed to make six spades on the hand below: South, dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.

NORTH A 10 6 WKQ7 4 10 9 4 2 EAST WEST

The other player happened to be the best in the field, and he took a different view of the hand. On winning the first trick with the diamond jack, he saw the great danger of an immediate spade finesse. If it were to lose to East, and the club ace and diamond king were "off side." the contract would be defeated. Rather than risk this lay of cards, this declarer went out for safety methods.

He led three rounds of hearts end-

He led three rounds of hearts, ending in dummy, and discarded his low clubs on the last round. Now, having limited his club losers to one, he led the ten of clubs from dummy, hoping to sneak by the singleton king if the ace were in East's hand. East, however jumed un with the ace and I could never tolerate a woman whoalways says "yes." She must be a developed individuality, with opinions of her own.

Nor could I tolerate a woman who brings out the superannuated code of chivalry and uses it to extract all sorts of undue favors. I refuse to be a glorified butler to any woman.

Nor could I stand for a moment the woman who must know where I not shown the king), and it declarer now were to duck and allow West to win, a third round would be ruffed by East. Declarer therefore made the perfectly natural play of the diamond ace. West ruffed this and, although declarer picked up the spade king on a finesse, he still had to concede a diamond trick to East's king.

Thus, his safety play of cashing three hearts before taking the spade finesse proved a boomerang. It did help insure his contract, but this was valueless in the face of the six spades made by the other less careful declarers.

In northern Egypt. The most famous group is near the village of Gizeh, not a great distance from the city of Cairo. This group is on the western side of the Nile river, and it is interesting to remember that the Egyptians believed spirits "went west" after leaving the body at the time of death.

the country I know best. For instance, in Shreveport, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Helm and their two daughters called on us. Mr. Helm is a nephew of Mrs. James Helm, who is the social secretary at the White House. Mrs. Helm has a farm in southern Illinois and I did not connect gals are, there is the inevitable talk about men; the men, their men, the minds of men, the habits of men, the philosophy of men, the pocketbooks of men and the love of men. So it has always been when two or three females are gathered together, their conversation is packed with highly personalized comments anent the masculine gender. It isn't hard to explain; we, the women, are pretty depending her with Louisiana, so it was a pleasant surprise to find some people so full of interest and to chat with them even for a few minutes. In the course of conversation, the mayor of Shreveport, mentioned we, the women, are pretty dependent on these lords of creations. It is no-use to blink the facts, however dis-tasteful they may be. If love doesn't enter into our calculations, economics paper correspondents are going to be a very aggressive group. The youngsters who come to report for high school papers seem to steal most of the time from regular reporters. Yesterday, one of the boys, if he had not been amusing, might almost have been thought bold. I imagine does. If play doesn't enter into our calculations, work does. For whether a gal feeds directly out of a hushand's pocketbook or feeds out of a pay envelope she has collected, it I missed seeing our latest army airport, but I did see three planes flying in perfect formation as we came into Shreveport. I hope that there is now sufficient appropriation to give our young army aviators good machines, with every modern improvement, so that what must be usually issues from some man's bank a dangerous branch of the service at best is made as safe possible.

A colored couple married and immediately reports spread far and wide of their unhappiness because the wife, Beatrice, was known to possess a hot temper. Some time after the marriage a lady who knew Beatrice met her in town and remarked:

"I hope you and your husband do not quarrel any more."

"We sho' don' do dat no mo'."

"What caused you to stop it?"

"He's daid."

We were rapidly escorted across Fort Worth this morning from one train to another on our way to Oklahoma and there have been small friendly crowds at some stations. Many of us do not appreciate what we owe the colored race for its train to another on our way to Oklahoma and there have been small friendly crowds at some stations.

Many customers who sit scoffing through the first act of that farce remain to pray, for it contains sev-eral truthful words spoken in idle jest. One leaves it convinced that after a woman has made her peace with God, the next most important thing on her calendar is making her peace with the man preferably one thing on her calendar is making her peace with the men, preferably one man who will give her his name, a home and the usual perquisites. It is only in this way that she achieves the fullest, happiest life. If she manages to make peace with that one man, thereafter her life's work is cut out for her in keeping the peace with him. DECLINE ON MARKET

Daily Bond Averages.

NEW YORK, March 12.-(P)-

NEW YORK, March 12.—(P)

Vinder a staggering load of offerings states and united States government bonds fell heavily today as the greatest volume of trading in more than 16 years was recorded.

Turnover in federal bonds alone to taled $22,450,000, face value, compared with $7,530,000 the day before. This was the greatest amount since December 30, 1920, when $28,423,000 thanked had an aggregate face value of $34.69,904 and an aggregate face value of $34.690,000 against $22,016,000 Thursday, which also was a record since December 30, 1930, when a total of $35.147,000 was traded.

Today's leverage on governments was likened by one dealer to a log jam which finally broke up following the accumulation of too much pressure. He pointed out that while high grade corporates and municipals had declined steadily in recent weeks, federal loans had remained within a point or so of their record highs. Hence, he continued, it needed only a jolt on the king-pin to send them down toward levels coinciding with those of the other high-grade issues.

Other factors operating for the decline were said to include the need of banks for funds to meet tax payments March 15 and the Federal Reserve mandate on member banks for higher reserves by May 1.

A symptom of underlying nervousness in investment and trading circles was seen Thursday when the market moved down to meet the offering price of the $130,000,000 Philadelphia Electric Company 3 1-2s instead of carrying them up as had been the tendency in previous comparable flotations. While the new issue found buyers at the introductory figure of 102 1-2, other high grade loans were offered in large volume.

United States governments suffered losses ranging from 1-8 of a point to A symptom of underlying nervous losses ranging from 1-8 of a point to 25-32 of a point with the majority losing 10-32 or more. Little, if any distinction was made between treasury and guaranteed agency issues.

Market Outlook

By MAX BUCKINGHAM. (Copyright, 1937, by United Press.)

NEW YORK, March 12.—(UP)—
The government came into the bond market today to bolster rapidly declining government issues and finally brought a steadier tone to the list before the close.

Government bonds dropped to new lows for the year and dealings picked up considerable momentum. Bankers were said to be heavy sellers. In-vestment banks, which usually do more business in governments than the stock exchange, reported a sharp pickup in selling.

Volume in United States bonds amounted to $35,240,000 par value, the highest since December 30, 1920, when the total for governments brought the total for governments brought the sales for all bonds to $23,450,000, also a new 17-year high.

Today's trades in United States bonds was more than the business in those issues for all of January when turnover was only $25,638,000, and February when the total was $10,647,000.

There was no special reason to account for the sudden selling pressure. It accompanied a rapid decline in stocks. The latter was arrested before the close and the bond list steadied underly the steadied of the steady of the st under large purchases by the Federal Reserve System. Commodities varied notably the metals which closed high-er when the London market rallied from a slump.

Experts said some bankers were selling governments to bolster up their reserves to meet higher requirements that will be effective May 1. The reserves were raised partially on March 1. This week excess reserves gained again because of a dip in money in circulation. In addition, some investors were in-

In addition, some investors were in-clined to lighten commitments because of the generally weakened condition of the market for corporate bonds, and the increase in new offerings that carry more attractive yields.

Bankers said the decline would not mark the end of strength in government bonds. They foresaw vigorous government support of the market to make way for further government financing.

The decline in governments failed to attract private buyers. However, the reverse was true in stocks and before the close enough new buying was attracted by the dip to force shorts to cover and accelerate the recovery. The gains were not sufficient to prevent an irregularly lower close.

The weekly figures showed a sharp advance in exports and mill takings as compared with the corresponding week of 1936. Cloth markets did a sood business with the price structure firm. The weather was normal and favorable for seeding and plows that harvest, which moisture at this time would tend to enlarge, led the tumble of values. Action of the market was in the face of the fact that international export wheat trade today was estimated as totaling 60,000 tons.

Rallies of wheat prices were mostly slight and transient, notwithstanding assertions in various quarters that the immediate domestic crop outlook does not in any measure approach the figures the property in long the corresponding weeks behind the normal date.

The mark-time attitude in today's trading was considered in many quarters to be the consolidating of receint gains, rather than an indication that the current price peak had been reached.

STOCK OPINIONS.

COURTS & CO.—While the last hour showed improvement which was considerable, probably represented chiefly short covering, failure to bring out increased offerings on the setback Friday cannot be regarded as other than bullish.

BEER & CO.—Although Friday's action was not conclusive proof that the correction had been completed, we are inclined to assume that this is so. An extension of the rise Saturday will strengthen our opinion on this point.

FENNER & BEANE—We believe extension of the late afternoon raily is possible Saturday. Oils are still considered attractive. Current receipts, yard run
